Tips for Boarding Your Pet

Caution:

Bufo toads can be fatal to your pet!

As the rainy season approaches, we are advising all of our clients to treat all toads like they are poisonous. Use caution when walking your dogs. Very little contact with a Bufo toad can be harmful or even fatal to your pet.

Symptoms: Drooling, foaming of the mouth, crying, loss of coordination and in severe cases, convulsions.

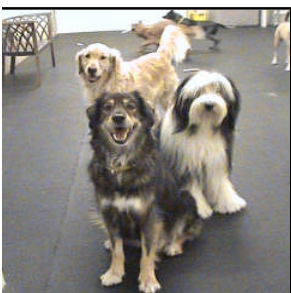

If you suspect poisoning: Get a hose and run water in the side of the dog's mouth pointing their head downward so water is not swallowed. Rub the dog's gums and mouth and call your vet immediately.

Pets may not be picked-up without payment in full.

Tips For Boarding Your Pet

 Make sure they are acclimated to the Paw Spa by bringing them for a few days of daycare prior to their visit. This especially applies to dogs coming for their first stay with us or if they only board once or twice per year.

 If your dog gets anxious when they sense you are leaving, try packing your bags and theirs when they are not in the room.

 Remember pets sense your body language, so do not make a big deal about having to be away from them and keep a very happy posture and tone when departing. If you fail to do so, they may interpret your body language and sadness as you abandoning them.

 When packing their bags, include only the basics such as a bed, food, treats and a few toys and make sure to label all items.
